BASEBALL NOTES.

Freeman is coming back to Paducah. The Nashville Banner says: "Pitcher Freeman, of the Kitty league, who has been on trial for the past ten days with the Fishermen will probably be sent back to the woods, as he has not shown up to the form desired by Fisher. Under the rules of the association a player cannot be 'farmed out,' but still the managers let teams have players with an 'honor' string tied to them. Fisher can get Adams, Fricke and Nickens, three youngsters who are playing good ball in the Cotton States league, sent there by Fisher to get a little experience. Fisher has understandings with the managers that he can get the men when he wants them, yet it is purely a matter of honor, as the men were released outright.

Fricke may be recalled soon. All three of the above twirlers have done excellent work in the Cotton States league.

Otto Mullen, sold recently to Greenville, Miss., by Hopkinsville, has been purchased by Henderson and joins the team at once. He is a fielder and crack batsman, and is also developing into a pitcher, and recently finished out four innings of a game for Greenville.

The following was the receipts for the morning and afternoon games of July Fourth in Vincennes, Cairo and Paducah:

Vincennes, $319.40
Cairo, 243.25
Paducah, 139.00

Total, $701.65

Under the constitution the receipts for holiday games are pooled and prorated among the six clubs. Under this arrangement each club was for warded a check yesterday for $116.94.

Cairo Bulletin.

Buck Freeman's whereabouts are a mystery. It is stated he has been released by Nashville but he has not returned to Paducah to resume pitching in the Kitty league.

The ten days have been up since Tuesday and yesterday President Jackson drew on the Nashville manager for the amount of Freeman's sale, taking it for granted that the Nashville team would not hold him over ten days if it did not intend to retain him as pitcher.

Umpire Popp has already begun to cause dissatisfaction to the losing teams. The umpire always does. When a team can't win it seems to think the umpire should kindly give 'em the game.

Ben Boyd says he will never roast the white ball players again. "We sho' knows now what ha'd luck is ourselves," said Ben today.

Vincennes has released Pitcher Todd because his shoulder was sore. Henderson has signed Lyons, a Louisville first baseman.

Otis Miller, a hitter from the Cotton States league, has been signed to play with Henderson.

Crotty, of Cairo, is said to have an offer from the Boston Americans.

The average for fielding and batting of every Kitty league player from May 11 to June 11, will shortly be published by the secretary of the league. Players who have participated in less than five games will not be published.

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE! BUGGIES.

Three day fair sale of buggies, phaetons, surreys, runabouts, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday.

BALL GAME TOMORROW.

The E. A. L. team will tackle the strong Dawson Springs team at the league park Sunday afternoon. The Dawson team is made up of the pick of players from Earlington, Princeton and Dawson, among whom is Wallace, a crack short stop that President Sam Jackson has had his eyes on for some time. The E. A. L.'s will present being free.

HAD GAME WON

PADUCAH CHAMPIONS THEN
LOST ON ERROBS.

Ben Boyd's colored team dropped another game to the Chattanooga "gins" yesterday afternoon by a score of 5 to 3, although it had the game won up to the sixth inning.

George Head, the Paducah first baseman, had the distinction of losing the game for the home club. The score was 3 to 1 in favor of Paducah, with everybody working like trojans, when Head made an error or two at first and let the visitors run in four scores. No other runs were made during the game. The last of the series will be played today.

BASEBALL PLAYERS AND FOOT RACERS!

Louis J. Kruger, ex-champion long distance foot racer of Germany and Holland, writes, Oct. 27, 1901: "During my training of eight weeks' foot races at Salt Lake City, in April last, I used Ballard's Snow Liniment to my greatest satisfaction. Therefore, I highly recommend Snow Liniment to all who are troubled with sprains, bruises or rheumatism." 25c, 50c, $1 bottle.

CONCERT AT PARK TONIGHT.

On account of the serious illness of Miss Pearl Orr, leading lady of the Burill Stock Company, there will be no dramatic offering at Wallace Park tonight. However, Deal's band will be on hand to entertain any who may visit the park, and their attractive music, together with some interpolated vaudeville features will no doubt prove very enjoyable. There will be no charge whatever to the Casino, all seats being free.

SUMMER GAYETIES.

Paducah society, dull for so long, has now gotten into the spirit of summer entertaining and dances at Wallace Park are becoming quite popular. Other visitors, promise to make Paducah gay for the balance of the summer. The summer theater attracts large crowds each evening, and many parties adopt this as a means of entertainment for the warm summer evenings.

Notary Public.

My commission expires Jan. 22, 1908.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Congress.

Hon. J. C. Speight, of Graves County.

DAILY THOUGHT.

Let a man so culture his love that it grows in depth and power, and, being ever steadily set upon the highest, it shall transfigure his life with a rare glory, and clothe it with garments of exquisite and arrestive fascination.—Selected.

THE WEATHER.

Showers tonight and in eastern portion Sunday.

Poor Judge Parker! In addition to being the candidate of Cleveland, Hill and others of that element of the party, he is now charged with being the candidate of the Standard Oil Company. One of his chief lieutenants, Senator McCarran, of Brooklyn, is charged with having been on the pay roll of "the octopus" for years. Thomas W. Lawson, of Boston, says: "The principal agent in accomplishing this was Boss McCarran, of Brooklyn, who, the public does not know, has been for years on the Standard Oil pay roll, first at $10,000 per year, then $15,000, and since Tammany's success in the last election, at $20,000. McCarran so effectually put Tammany to sleep by splitting its ranks in factional fights as to nullify its power at St. Louis."

Judge Riley, of Lexington, is an original man. He has a new cure for the whiskey habit which promises to rival the Keeley Institute. A Lexington paper thus describes it: "The remedy consists of fish brine dissolved in a pint of water, which the drunkard is made to drink. The remedy was applied to a well known man by Judge Riley this morning, and rather than have to submit to such treatment again he stated to the court that he had been before the bar for the last time. For twenty minutes after drinking the beverage the man was so sick that the smell of liquor, he said, was enough to drive him crazy. A prisoner is given his choice of this drink cure or thirty days on the rock pile."

Forty-eight of the eighty-seven indictments returned this week at Mayfield by the grand jury were for selling whiskey—selling whiskey contrary to law, and selling mean whiskey at that. And Mayfield is one of those "local option" towns—one of those places where whiskey has been voted out!

The public is weary of the dilatory methods of city officials, and will gladly welcome the opportunity in November to change half of both boards. Four new aldermen and six councilmen are to be elected in November, and they will all be new men, too.

It is foolish for city officials to claim that public work is "all right" when people can stand around on the corners and see with their own eyes that it is mostly all wrong.

One of the easiest ways for the republicans to defeat Judge Parker is to show who his principal friends are, and the cause of their espousal of his candidacy.

The concrete under the new brick streets may be all right, but if so, it is up to the city officials to demonstrate what it is that is all wrong.

FIRST CASE

Under the New Liveryman's Bill.

Man Charged With Making a False Statement in Police Court.

Ed Hayes was arraigned in police court this morning for making a false statement in hiring a horse and buggy from James Glauber, the liveryman.

Supervisor Johnson was out in the Woodville section yesterday afternoon after one of the heavy showers, and stated that in one of his road camps the water ran two feet deep, while all the creeks were out of their banks and in some places flowing over the roads. It will probably be a day or two, however, before the full damage is ascertained. This summer the damage from rain has already been several hundred dollars.

The new steel bridge over Clark's River near Bond Station will be completed Wednesday next. It has been under course of construction since last November, a Nashville firm having the contract, and has been delayed by high water, failure of material to arrive, and many other things.

It is one of the best bridges in the county, and costs about $3000. The finishing touches are being put on it now, and it will be ready for use Wednesday, at the latest.

RAINS DAMAGED THE COUNTY ROADS

Yesterday's Down Pour Flooded Creeks and Lowlands.

Nearly All the Road Repairing Has Now Been Completed In McCracken County.

NEW BRIDGE NEARLY FINISHED

County Road Supervisor Bert Johnson states that there remains about $5000 or $6000 of the county road fund to spend this year.

Most of the repair work has been completed, but there are new roads to be built, and all the money will be well spent. The work would have been finished before now had it not been for a few of the heavier rains, which did considerable damages in places.

Yesterday's rain is supposed to have also entailed more or less loss to the county.

AN EXPLANATION.

Mr. James Glauber, the well known livery man, says in justice to himself he desires a statement given of his side of the case in which a sign writer was warranted for disfiguring his property. Mr. Glauber says that the sign writer came to his place of business and asked to be allowed to paint a figure of a horse on his stable, with a line under it advertising a line of horse remedies, and he stated that he would paint any kind of horse Mr. Glauber designated. Mr. Glauber said he would be out of town next day however, and told him to call to see him again after the next night and he would decide what he would do. The next day he went to La Center. He says when he returned he found painted on his stable the trade mark of the company making the remedies advertised, which is a horse. Mr. Glauber states that this was done without his permission, hence the warrant.

MORE FACILITIES FOR THE SCHOOLS

Committees Appointed to Look For Suitable Location.

Another Story to Be Added to the Garfield School—Teachers Elected.

BOARD MET LAST NIGHT

The Board of Education met last night in adjourned session with Trustees Coleman, May, Cole, Greif, Jones, Robinson and Morrison present. The board decided to add another story to the Garfield colored school near Ninth and Boyd, which now has four rooms. The demand for more accommodations has become so great that the board will spend about $1600 to increase the facilities.

Prof. Albert Rouse was elected principal of the Langstaff building at a salary of $65. Miss Sue Atchison, who has been principal, will be assigned to other work.

Other teachers were elected as follows:

Miss Virginia Johnson, Miss Catherine Thomas and Miss Lucy Moore, of this city, and Misses Elizabeth Umstot, of Cynthiana, and Ida Beabout of Sheridan, Ky. All are new teachers except Miss Thomas, who has been a substitute. Miss Beabout is a sister of Messrs. John and Louis Beabout, the insurance men. The white substitutes elected were Misses Mary Brazzelton and Aubrey Taylor.

The colored teachers chosen were Rena Tanner, Minnie Lewis, Mrs. M. V. Pearson, Maggie Merchant and Callie Emery.

The matter of putting up fire escapes on the Washington High School building was discussed, a Louisville concern offering to furnish the material and to do the work for $875. A motion to order it was defeated by a vote of 4 to 3, but it was then decided to authorize President Coleman to sign a contract should any of the members' subsequently decide "to change the vote and give the necessary majority.

A committee composed of Trustees Morris, Cole and Greif was appointed to look about for a suitable location for a new school, and one composed of Trustees Benfro, Greif and Cole was appointed to seek a location in Mechanicsburg.

Hundreds of Dollars Worth Crushed to Pieces.

The Heavy Machine In Passing Over Drainage Breaks the Pipes.

COMPLETE DAMAGE NOT KNOWN

The city has lost no little money since the street roller was recently put into commission by the breaking of drain pipes. It is estimated that hundreds of feet of the pipes have been demolished, necessitating the tearing up of the streets to remove the pieces and put down new pipes.

A few years ago the city decided to do away with the wooden culverts which crossed nearly every street, and several thousand dollars was spent in taking up the wooden crossings, which had to be renewed every year or two, and substituting terra cotta drain pipes off the surface water.

It was thought that the investment was a good one, as it greatly improved the looks of the streets, the only objection being that in some places the pipes were inadequate to carry off the water after a rain.

The street roller was not being used at that time, and not until recently was it operated to any extent. For the past several weeks, however, the roller has been in almost constant use, and has smashed the drain pipes right and left on every street it has been run.

The first known of the damage being wrought was when the water from heavy rains began to accumulate and overflow streets and gutters. It was learned by digging down to the pipes that they were crushed. They were mashed so badly that many of them crumbled into small fragments and had to be shoveled out.

The damage has been more than might be supposed, for not only do new pipes have to be put down, but the streets just rolled and made firm and solid, have to be torn up again.

Yesterday after the heavy rain some of the broken pipes caused water to back up into residence yards half a foot deep. It is not known what the damage has amounted to, expressed in dollars, but it will probably amount to hundreds of dollars, including the cost of labor in replacing the pipes.

After the roller now finishes on a street where these drain pipes have been laid, a force of men follows up to dig up the broken pipes and put down new ones.

IN FOOD

WHAT A CLERGYMAN'S WIFE FOUND.

The wife of a Minnesota clergyman found the solution of her troubles in a simple change of food of which she says:

"My case proves that proper food will cure almost any ail. For years I suffered from dyspepsia which became chronic and was treated by some of the most skillful physicians but was not cured.

"Medicine would help for a time but the old troubles would always return because the cause was still there, and kept me weak and sickly most of the time. I had the grip every year for five years, always suffered from colds and my whole condition showed that I did not get the proper nourishment from the food.

"When I began eating Grape Nuts according to directions, I may say that since that time my stomach has not troubled me at all but a remarkable change took place. All through the long, cold winter I ate nothing but a saucer of Grape Nuts and cream in the morning and no matter how severe the cold I did not suffer and I did not have the grip or even a cold. Grape Nuts food certainly nourished me until I have a strong constitution, feel like a new person, indeed never was healthier in my life." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Are You a Lychnobe?

A day worker met some morning newspaper men, all of them being slightly "under the influence." In the conversation that ensued the day man said: "You lychnobites ought to go way back and sit down."

The objects of the epithet were much offended at its application to them, but were mollified when they found that the dictionary defines "lychnobe" as "one who works at night and sleeps by day."

This reminds one of the story of Daniel O'Connell, who vanquished a Billingsgate fishwoman by calling her a right-angled hypotenuse.—Typographical Journal.

But he never can remember that he is not the party addressed in prayer."

LITTLE SICKNESS

AMONG THE RAILROAD EMPLOYEES THIS SUMMER.

The past several weeks have been remarkable in railroad circles for the few accidents and small amount of illness.

This week there have been an average of about thirty sick people in the railroad hospital, counting the convalescents. There have been few accidents, hardly three a week, on an average and these have not been very serious. This is the time of year when sickness generally prevails, but so far few patients, comparatively, have been brought in off the road. The railroad doctors say this is a very unusual season in this respect.

BLOCK SIGNALS
BY SEPTEMBER 1STThe Date of Their Completion
Now Announced.

Eight More Tower Stations Than Anticipated Had to Be Installed.

CREWS ARE BUSY AT WORK

It was definitely announced this morning that the block system between Paducah and Central City on the Illinois Central road would be completed by September 1, and that also all extensions to tracks and new siding will be completed by that time.

The delay in completing the block system is due to the fact that eight more tower stations had to be put in than at first was thought necessary.

Some places where blocks have been placed were not originally intended to be but had to be so located.

There are four new sidings to be built and seven or eight extensions to complete, before the blocks will be finished, and the construction crews are kept constantly at work on the job in order to have it ready by fall, when business will pick up in railroad circles.

TRAVEL IN COLOMBIA

DRUMMER TELLS OF SOME EXCITING ADVENTURES.

The Story of a Stolen Fleet and a Naval Battle on the Magdalena—Where the Revolutionary Spirit is Rampant.

Charles H. Millett, a drummer, who is now in New York on his way back to Chicago from a tour of South America, tells some exciting stories of his adventures in Colombia during the recent insurrection of the liberals.

"I started," he said, "to go up the river Magdalena in a small river steamer. There was only one other passenger—a quiet, amiable young man, who afterward turned out to be a liberal leader in disguise.

"When we had gone two days upstream we found that trouble was brewing. Every one on the banks had taken up arms on one side or the other, and was stealing his neighbor's cattle and horses for the good of the cause. We heard that in a town just ahead the liberals had risen in obedience to a pronunciamento and had seized six steamers and gone up stream.

"Our skipper was an American and wanted peace, but that commodity seemed just as unlikely to be found down stream as up, so we kept on our course. The result was that at noon next day we fell into the hands of three revolutionist steamers which were ambushed round a bend of the river.

"Their crew swarmed aboard and invited us with rifles to join them. We joined, and had three days' naval maneuvers, which consisted of pillage. I am sorry I had no camera, the scenes were so interesting.

"After three days we, having the faster steamer, dodged round another branch of the river and escaped; and when we tied up for the night we thought we were safe.

"Our delight did not last long, for my amiable young fellow passenger, who had assumed command of our captors, came after us with thirty turbulent bandits in canoes and retook our ship during the night.

"At my own request he kindly put me ashore at a woodpile in the lonely forest; at least it was lonely except for two elderly colored ladies, who owned the woodpile.

"The ship, with lights out, dropped down the river to join the rest of the fleet, having left me rationed for a couple of days—two tins of lobster, two of sardines, a pound of bread and a half a pound of chocolate.

"After they had gone an Indian sneaked out of the bush, and I managed to bribe him to put me across the river to a village where many canoes were kept. There I hired two, loaded my traps into them, and, with five men, led all that night in a pouring rain and all the next day under a blazing sky to Puerto Benito, the nearest place where food was obtainable.

"The officer in command of the government troops there, when he heard my tale, fitted out an expedition, converting some river steamers into armed cruisers by the use of railway metal for armor plates. With these he went down the river to meet the enemy, who by that time had gathered eleven steamers.

"Those eleven were not enough. There was a regular Trafalgar, and the revolutionists had the worst of it.

"All their boats were sunk or captured, and they lost over 250 men. My amiable fellow passenger got a bullet through his brain, and our skipper, who took no part in the affair, got two through his arm as he was quietly reading 'Under Two Flags,' which I had lent him, in his cabin."—New York Sun.

THE CLOCK DOOMED

Ancient Time Keeper May Give Away to Improvement.

Important Changes Proposed By a
Connecticut Man.

New Haven, Conn., July 8.—With all the modern products of the twentieth century clockmakers before the world, and clocks and watches no longer a luxury, it seems somewhat surprising as well as audacious for anyone to declare that he will pronounce all clocks "back numbers" and revolutionize all systems of recording the hours, minutes and seconds as they go flying past.

Yet a man from Connecticut, the home of the clockmakers and the land of clocks, has the preocity to make such an announcement. He is not a clockmaker, but just a plain Yankee genius.

Samuel Powers Thrasher of New Haven, Conn., has an invention that bids fair to make Yankee clock makers green with envy. In short, Mr. Thrasher proposes to tell time in figures, the same as we read on the time tables of every road in the country. No longer would he have us say it is "quarter of three," or "half past two," but as we look at his invention he proposes and insists that we must say 2:45 or 2:30. In the twentieth century bustle and hustle this proposal seems likely to meet with more than mere approval. Mr. Thrasher proposes to reconstruct the familiar face with which Father Time has been wont to remind us of the passing hours, and do away entirely with the quaint old dial with Roman numerals in use from the middle ages and likewise take away the old clock's hands. Instead of pointing the way and letting us figure out the time for ourselves, Mr. Thrasher's new timepiece will tell us in plain figures at a glance just what time it is. It will be no more trouble to tell the hour, the minute and the second than to read the A, B, C's or see at a glance in the time tables the hour and the minute. Anyone with eyes and the ability to use them, can tell time, and a mere comparison with a time table and a knowledge of figures and the ability to read them will be the only essential to know the precise moment when a train is supposed to arrive or depart or any event is to take place.

Three sets of figures, one each for the hours, the tens and the units of minutes revolving on separate rolls with measured accuracy, and appearing in a given space at the proper time, give us the hours and minutes on this wonderful new clock.

A pointer constantly traveling in a half graduated circle tells the exact seconds. The pointer and the rolls interlock and the whole is impelled by a device which is simpler than the simplest clock mechanism ever made.

After three days we, having the faster steamer, dodged round another branch of the river and escaped; and when we tied up for the night we thought we were safe.

"Our delight did not last long, for my amiable young fellow passenger, who had assumed command of our captors, came after us with thirty turbulent bandits in canoes and retook our ship during the night.

"At my own request he kindly put me ashore at a woodpile in the lonely forest; at least it was lonely except for two elderly colored ladies, who owned the woodpile.

"The ship, with lights out, dropped down the river to join the rest of the fleet, having left me rationed for a couple of days—two tins of lobster, two of sardines, a pound of bread and a half a pound of chocolate.

"After they had gone an Indian sneaked out of the bush, and I managed to bribe him to put me across the river to a village where many canoes were kept. There I hired two, loaded my traps into them, and, with five men, led all that night in a pouring rain and all the next day under a blazing sky to Puerto Benito, the nearest place where food was obtainable.

"The officer in command of the government troops there, when he heard my tale, fitted out an expedition, converting some river steamers into armed cruisers by the use of railway metal for armor plates. With these he went down the river to meet the enemy, who by that time had gathered eleven steamers.

"Those eleven were not enough. There was a regular Trafalgar, and the revolutionists had the worst of it.

"All their boats were sunk or captured, and they lost over 250 men. My amiable fellow passenger got a bullet through his brain, and our skipper, who took no part in the affair, got two through his arm as he was quietly reading 'Under Two Flags,' which I had lent him, in his cabin."—New York Sun.

"That's her," said the captain. Two hours later the steamboat slid between the yellow waters of two outlying reefs and with slackened speed moved slowly toward the wharf of log cribs filled with stone.

Thorpe knew very well that the structure had been erected by and belonged to Morrison & Daly, but the young man had had the foresight to purchase the land lying on the deep water side of the bay. He therefore anticipated no trouble in unloading, for while Morrison & Daly owned the pier itself, the land on which it abutted belonged to him.

From the arms of the bay he could make out a dozen figures standing near the end of the wharf. When, with propeller reversed, the Pole Star bore slowly down toward her moorings, Thorpe recognized Dyer at the head of eight or ten woodsmen. It looked suspicious.

"Catch this line!" sung out the mate, hurling the coil of a hand line on the wharf.

The captain, with a curse, signaled full speed astern.

"Captain Morse," cried Dyer, stepping forward, "my orders are that you are to land here nothing but M. & D. merchandise."

"I have a right to land," answered Thorpe. "The shore belongs to me."

"This dock doesn't," retorted the other sharply, "and you can't set foot on her."

"You have no legal status. You had no business building in the first place!" began Thorpe, and then stopped with a choke of anger at the futility of arguing legality in such a case.

The men had gathered interestedly in the waist of the ship, cool, impartial, severely critical. The vessel swung her bow in toward the dock. Thorpe ran swiftly forward and during the instant of rubbing contact leaped.

He alighted squarely upon his feet. Without an instant's hesitation he rushed on Dyer and with one full, clean in-blow stretched him stunned on the dock. For moment there was a pause of astonishment. Then the woodsmen closed upon him.

During that instant Thorpe had become possessed of a weapon. It came hurling through the air from above to fall at his feet. Shearer, with the cool calculation of the pioneer, had seen that it would be impossible to follow his chief and so had done the next best thing, throwing him a heavy iron belaying pin.

Thorpe hit with all his strength and quickness. He was conscious once of being on the point of defeat. Then he had cleared a little space for himself. Then the men were on him again more savagely than ever. One fellow even succeeded in hitting him a glancing blow on the shoulder.

Then came a sudden crash. Thorpe was nearly thrown from his feet. The next instant a score of yelling men leaped behind and all around him. There ensued a moment's scuffle, the sound of dull blows, and the dock was clear of all but Dyer and three others who were, like himself, unconscious. The captain, yielding to the excitement, had run his prow plump against the wharf.

Some of the crew received the mooring lines. All was ready for disembarkation.

Bryan Moloney, a strapping Irish-American of the big boned, red checkered type, threw some water over the four stunned combatants. Slowly they came to life. They were promptly yanked to their feet by the irate river men, who commenced at once to bestow sundry vigorous kicks and shakings by way of punishment. Thorpe interposed.

"Quit it," he commanded. "Let them go."

The men grumbled. One or two were inclined to be openly rebellious.

"If I hear another peep out of you," said Thorpe to these latter, "you can climb right aboard and take the return trip." He looked them in the eye until they muttered and then went on: "Now, we've got to get unbound and our goods ashore before those fellows report to camp. Get right moving and haul."

So Dyer and his men picked themselves out of the trouble sullenly and departed. The ex-scalar had nothing to say as long as he was within reach, but when he had gained the shore he turned.

"You won't think this is so funny when you get in the law courts!" he shouted.

Thorpe made no reply.

With thirty men at the job it does not take a great while to move a small cargo thirty or forty feet. By 3 o'clock the Pole Star was ready to continue her journey. Thorpe climbed aboard, leaving Shearer in charge.

"Keep the men at it, Tim," said he. "Put up the walls of the warehouse good and strong and move the stuff in. If you get through before I return you might take a scot up the river and fix on a camp site. I'll bring back the lumber for roofs, floors and trimmings with me and will try to pick up a few men for swamping. Those fellows won't bother us any more for the pres-

A Musical Triumph.

Recent reports from somewhere in New England state that natives in that land killed by the playing of a brass band. People who have heard brass bands of the village variety will have little difficulty in crediting the reports.

"MUSIC has charms to soothe the savage breast." At least so we have often heard it said. And yet for soothng savages out west we always had a preference for lead. We had a notion, it must be confessed, that music is most soothing when he's dead. Which same is why we never tried to kill him with harmony, but figured how to kill him.

Yet this does not disprove the adage, for if we had tried on him a modern chorus we might have saved the shedding of his gore.

And changed to wholesome dread the hate he bore us. He would have found our music worse than war.

And escape he would have fled before us.

By taking thus an opera along we might have had the country for a song.

"Music has charms." 'Tis wonderful the song.

That it has held o'er warriors, bards and sages.

Across the past we hear it far away. Its sweet strains wafted down from distant ages.

Yet it has shown a greater power today.

Than has been chronicled in history's pages.

The erstwhile charmer now becomes a killer.

And knocks the tar out of the caterpillar.

The forest waltzed when Orpheus played his flute;

The devils, charmed, forgot their devilish wood.

When Pan upon his pipes began to toot there fell a panic through the fearsome wood.

Such skill had the Pied Piper with his flute.

But even rats the music understood. Our players show a magic still more fetching.

The worms succumb unto its spell be-witching.

Every woman in the country ought to know about

Mother's Friend

Those who do know about it wonder why they ever got along without it. It has robbed childbirth of its terror for many a young wife. It has preserved her girlish figure and saved her much suffering. It is an external liniment and carries with it therefore, absolutely no danger of upsetting the system as drugs taken internally are apt to do. It is to be rubbed into the abdomen to soften and strengthen the muscles which are to bear the strain. This means much less pain. It also prevents morning sickness and all of the other discomforts of pregnancy.

A druggist of Macon, Ga., says:

"I have sold a large quantity of Mother's Friend and have never known an instance where it has failed to produce the good results claimed for it."

A prominent lady of Lambar, Ark., writes: "With my first child I was in labor from 24 to 40 hours. After using Mother's Friend, my seventh was born in 4 hours."

Board of Public Works Sick of the Terrell Street Contract.

A member of the Board of Public Works stated this morning that the city would have nothing to do with opening Fourth street before the paving is complete.

"It is a matter," he declared "that is left to the street car company and the contractor. If the company indemnifies the contractor for any damages that may arise from running the cars before the paving is completed between the tracks, it will be the contractor's risk if he allows the cars to run. So far as the city is concerned, we can do nothing until the street is complete and offered to us."

"This board doesn't want anything to do with this Terrell contract, anyhow."

Soon after we began as members of the board of public works we were told that the contractor didn't regard us as having any authority in the contract, as it was let by the general council, and while we don't consider the contractor's opinion or that of his attorney as amounting to anything, we would be very glad to escape the responsibility for this job, for it has been a muddle all the way through, and is going to wind up in a lawsuit. We have nothing to do with opening the street until it is complete in every detail."

ILLINOIS CENTRAL CUTS OFF
TRAINMASTER'S ASSIST-ANT AT FULTON.

The I. C. is still curtailing expenses, the latest steps taken towards decreasing the expenditures being the abolition of the office of assistant trainmaster of the Fulton district of the I. C.

Today circulars from Superintendent J. J. Gaven's office signed by that official and confirmed by H. McCourt, assistant general manager of southern lines, were posted in local trainmaster quarters announcing this action.

The office has been held by Mr. G. B. James who was put on a short time ago. The office was established last winter during the rush of business when an assistant was absolutely needed. Mr. James becomes trainmaster of the Louisville district, between Louisville and Central City.

MAY SUSPEND

THE CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY
IN HARD LINES.

It is possible that the Children's Home Society of Kentucky, which has been doing a good work in finding homes for needy children, and has its receipts for contributions in every city in the state, may have to suspend. The legislature appropriated $15,000 for it at the last session but the attorney general of the state has decided that the appropriation was unconstitutional, which deprives the institution of necessary funds. It is now announced that unless financial aid comes within thirty days the society will have to quit business.

Mr. George L. Sehon, the superintendent, is well known in Paducah.

CLOTH HOSE

WILL BE AGAIN PURCHASED BY THE CITY.

The joint fire committee of the general council last night ordered bids on 2,000 feet of new fire hose for stations No. 3 and 4 and from indications the city will buy cloth hose, similar to that purchased after much wrangling two years ago.

The cloth hose has proven the most satisfactory, the city has ever had, according to local firemen, who say that but one or two sections have become useless, and these were run over by the street cars.
